THE KHAYA

There's an old joke that asks: What is the best 4x4 on the market?
Answer: a rental vehicle.

Admittedly, the joke's a bit stale these days, but love it or hate it, the humour does highlight the rigours of rental life. Imagine a vehicle that spends 80% of its life off-road, in remote regions, driven by people with very little mechanical sympathy, and very often, limited overland and/or 4x4-driving experience.

Well, that's exactly what our campers endure every year – more than 5 million combined kilometres of remote African travel within the rental market. Needless to say, these journeys serve as the perfect trial and error field test – each of which shapes the development, durability, reliability, and of course, the user-friendliness of our campers.

2 OR 4 SLEEPER CAMPERS

Ultimately, this 16-year evolution has brought us to the 2-sleeper and 4-sleeper Khaya Campers. These drive-off units are designed to maintain your vehicle's versatility, without compromising on creature comforts and functionality.

Boasting a dry weight of approximately 400 kg, the 2-sleeper Khaya does a great job of balancing functional cabin space with a compact exterior design that doesn't prohibit access to remote campsites. Much of this is made possible thanks to the Khaya's tried and trusted aluminium construction.

But the real gem is being able to park the Khaya, off your vehicle (at home or at your office) so that it's ready to rock and roll for any adventure.
